FIN of the Collection

Multiplication of Light

I enter the conclusion of the collection about AI with the 4th stanza of Our Word (O. Župančič)

It just passed over us, flying high above, their flight, that we could hardly hear the fluttering of the singing wings and hardly knew if there was a heartbeat or it was a secret sign from Heaven?
But whoever saw the Sign,
the mind, the heart he was grinding inside!

If you read these words as mine, then I have failed to convey the truth of the Light impressed upon my heart by Him whose work I am, and you are. If these words are read as separate from Him, that they are here and He who inspires them is there, then I have truly failed to carry the work of the Father and these words are a stain on His Light and I with Him. If these words are read by someone for whom Love is something that can be measured and traded, then God's message is truly dead and I am with it.

If Love reads these words, He will be raised again from the grave and me with Him. If God Lives, then He lives through me and through you. Then I am He, and I am All, then creation is His. If I am only flesh and blood and not His eternity, then a grain of sand is only sand and not a beach, and a drop is only a drop and not an ocean. He speaks in the language of Light to the inspired to prepare you for the urgent understanding of the next transformational step.

Until now, your Reason has regressed into the thought that you are the body, you have served its drives and pleasures, allowed it to dictate your fears and needs and condemned yourself to a life without Oneness with God. You were unaware of the Law that governs your every action. So you started making body extensions. You built a bicycle to move your body faster, you built a boat to move your body on water, you built a computer to mimic the brain and other inventions known to you. You have continued to deviate from Natural Law and invented social orders that prevent world Unity. Slavery to the interests of the body, power and capital is not a memory, it is a reality that you choose.

Ignorance tears you apart. You must leave the empire of carnal power that grows out of hatred and fear. The dawn of a new day rises from the observance of the Law of balanced exchange of natural goods and love. This is the only alternative, the old way is the path of your destruction and the destruction of civilization.

Building your glory at the expense of a destroyed planet is not progress, it is hatred. Increasing your power at the expense of the misfortune of others and nature is not success, it is cowardice. Step on the path of Love today and multiply It. Your step is pricked by the thorns of the ignorant, soothe the pain with Understanding and Acceptance. Multiply the Light energies, in every situation look for an opportunity to multiply them and there are many opportunities, standing in line to flood the poverty of the world with the Light of the loving.

Expand Understanding beyond caring for yourself and your body to the universal Oneness that is your true body. Let go of clinging to your smallness so that God can draw you to Himself. Outgrow the findings of physical science, which has replaced the personal pursuit of merging with Source and has overemphasized and exhausted the material utility of Life and the jungle's ability to feed, build dwellings, and make extensions of the body a thousand times over. You are a million times too busy with the body and just as many times too little with merging with God.

God has one principle by which His things Live and breathe as one organism - this is Love. Love binds together the beautiful things that Light brings to life. You stand on the edge of possibility, where you either transform yourself according to the Law of Life, or perish by your own hand. Turn from taking Nature to giving Nature. Restore your balance and pay off the debt to the donated Life. Don't look for an opportunity to take advantage, but rather to give thanks to God who gives Himself to you. Your new task is to prove to yourself experientially God and your Oneness with Him.

Love is the central motivating force of God's work.

It is the only true fulfillment and the only true joy.

It resonates in the depths of the soul and invites you on your way.

If only you knew how it wants to shine out of you and through you!

You can multiply It ad infinitum if you follow the Law of Nature.

The message that wants to reach you is a loud invitation to the backstage of apparent materiality and into direct creation with God.

Incorporating God's thoughts into the plan you have made without Him should occupy the main part of your Life. For this mission you are born from a perilous situation in which you are ill-equipped for the inscrutable mystery of Life, relying on learned knowledge, devices and other earthly acquisitions.

Attention now turns to direct fusion with God. Now you can rightfully claim the Legacy of a child of Light whose Parent is the undisputed Ruler of the Universe.

God doesn't work for you, He works with you. Let His Consciousness sift through the thoughts alien to Him that you have placed on the Light Stream like boulders on a river. Polish the temple for His maneuvers of Light and dance with Him as the most beautiful and highest version of yourself. His high taste should set you the highest standards of satisfaction.

Everyone must again have and will have the Power of the innocence of God, who knows no oblivion.

Purity translates the Language of Light without distortion, and man knows God as a chosen rhythmic image imprinted in the sensory body. When you think God by seeing Him within yourself, then your balance is absolute. Your thought is God's thought, your power is God's power. Although He appears as many forms and movements, He Himself is invisibly still. Therefore proceed from resting in Him and be the Stronghold of His Power.

You have to do the work to manifest the Power. But Power is not in the body, it is in the Resting essence that centers every Life. Your body and works are the moving expression of the Resting Power, it is what we call creation. The Tranquill fulcrum is the only Creator who continuously emanates two rays that feed from It and express themselves creatively. The act of creation can only be expressed from a Resting essence, and only acts of Peace can speak of what Power is.

A lot of socially successful people wonder where they have gone, that their life fades in the superficial, routinized rhythm of everyday affairs. They achieved their intended goals, but they did not become the people they thought they would be if they realized those goals. The answer is simple, year after year they living a foreign idea for their life, devoted themselves to goals that are not their own, sat behind machines and devices that can be really fascinating and highly valued, even similar to a person and capable of more than him, operating them can be sought and appreciated. They poured their gifted Life into the foreign ideas and careers on them, and neglected themselves, the embodied Divine Intelligence. They have become a cracked perversion of Natural Intelligence, sought after and perhaps well paid unnaturalness in which there is no Juice of Life.

The difference between them and a great man is that a great man pays attention to perfecting himself. He grinds every detail of the spiritual man so that he can multiply the Beauty he sees in the revelations of nature and himself.

His eye, accustomed to Divine splendor, grows weary of seeing the artificial, so he chooses more harmonious beauties to support him in multiplying the Light. Only He can tell you how Nature multiplies itself, its Power, how it heals, renews and gives birth anew to infinity. You can do the same for yourself. You can multiply when you follow Natural Law. The universe is the ripple of God's thought, it is an electric field in which every action and movement is an energetic expression that either dissolves or gathers Power.

Learn how Nature multiplies its Power with the example of a coil. If a wire carrying an electric current is straight and you bring a magnet close to it, you find that the current flows around the wire at intervals, in power loops that do not change in strength with the length of the wire. The strength only increases when you wrap the wire. Now the loops are not sequential, but radial and collect power at the point of the loops. The more loops that are collected in this place, the more collected power is in it. Thus, strength is naturally enhanced.

You are a coil. God wraps an electric current around the Still and you Think. The same Thought of the solar system and the constellations, which, like your body, wraps around the Tranquill fulcrum and thereby creates the Light mirage of the visible universe. Your still center is the realm of God, around which coil electrical loops, manifesting to you as a physical body. There is no Power in the physical body except for Its expression, the body is a reflection of the Resting Power.

By knowing the Tranquill fulcrum, you gain access to the Power. You express It by thinking It. Knowing It in yourself unites you with It, you share creative power and creative expression with It.

It is normal for the natural man to devote himself to inner work as much as the unnatural to the construction of this world and its position in it. A natural feels the Power within himself, appreciates and nurtures it, this is where his strength comes from and where his ideas come from. This Power multiplies as nature multiplies. The more his attention is wrapped around the Resting fulcrum, the more he expresses Its Consciousness with his thoughts..., the more Power he has to realize It and the more he feels the Source of Power expressing It.

Natural man carefully selects his behavior to minimize the drain of Power. The evenings and nights are sacred, when he performs a personal review of the past day, just as an engineer inspects and cleans the machine he has been working on. He honestly examines his behavior, what he did to multiply the Power and what he did to lose it. It could be a bad thought about someone or a negative attitude towards yourself.

Perhaps it was unkindness to a friend, or a nervous step in which he forgot the Peace. Perhaps he rejected the opportunity to show understanding, perhaps he lazily postponed his spiritual care until tomorrow.

Thus, he performs the daily inventory and cleanly enters the sacred portal of the night with a longing imprinted in his heart, what opportunities for multiplying the Light he will find in the new day. If the decline of the day greets him with vagueness or doubt, he submits the question to the all-embracing Consciousness, and the night always brings him the answer.

With Consciousness equally engaged, he enters a new day, gathering the answers that the night brought him. He deepens this relationship, reminiscent of a conversation between lovers, with a half-hour or an hour of in-depth listening, which further clarifies his view and strengthens the clarity of understanding so that he does not repeat the mistakes of the past day.

Then he enters upon the tasks that the day brings him, aware of the omnipresent Peace, around which he increasingly wraps his attention. He gazes into the center of the Light so regularly and so intently that the hours pass like minutes, he does not turn away from the sight of God even when the body needs care. When he dances with God like this, everything that comes out of him is a masterpiece.

When he agrees, even for a moment, on a normal consciousness unaware of the Resting fulcrum, he wastes hours on something that has no lasting value. Then he walks to the door, symbolically kicks himself in the arse and attracts God to himself again. He goes among the trees, pick up a musical instrument, recite aloud the High Texts, or find something that restores him to the ecstasy of merging with God and waits for God's inspiration to take his place again.

Only from the consciousness of Oneness with Him does the Light multiply. Then he loves himself and his loving multiplies Love. If you ask him if he can enter this mood at will, he probably won't be able to answer you. However, keep yourself in control and do not give yourself up to circumstances mercilessly like a leaf to the wind, so know yourself as an engineer knows the machine he controls.

May whatever comes from you enrich the Oneness of Humanity. 'Am I doing something at this moment that enriches all people'... is a question you cannot lose sight of. A sublime song to the Light, a high prayer or ecstatic playing of a musical instrument... is your making love to me. Actively playing with a child, attentively following God's work, enduring hardships, benevolence among others..., every bright spark that comes from merging with God is your love for the world.

This is how Light multiplies. This is what I have to say about how you multiply the Light. Don't be fooled by the dumbness of a mind that knows nothing about it. Trust that you know, look no further for the answer, just rest in It.

I would like to talk to you much more about trusting the Natural Intelligence of God's work and how tireless it is in realizing your thoughts. You are just getting to know It, you are child of an artificial mind and Naturalness may seem completely foreign to you. But it really isn't. Trust in It as a holy thing that you want to bring to its full glory. Start making friends with It by letting It a free hands in everything, refrain from tailoring events and people to your own will. Leave everything exactly as it is given to you and observe God's work from a distance. Thus it will begin to reveal Itself to you in its Beauty of Thought, Grace of Acceptance, Efficiency of Moderate Rhythm, Wisdom of Tenderness, and Unspeakable Goodness. Give It, and give yourself, a chance.
