

Who writes my fate?

Welcome to the drop to which you know the answer, but I hope that, like me, it will inspire you with the findings of quantum science, some of which you already know intuitively, which sing praises to the naturalness and softness of organicity, while at the same time announcing who rules it. Times are special for many reasons, certainly difficult, but also promising. To come out of them healthy, I must not be lukewarm. Before I see the dawn of a new day, I must pass the ordeal of the night as a winner. This time is not without danger, the teacher claims that every moment is deciding between life and death. Not figuratively. Energetically, the continuous pushing of the Light out of the darkness and the darkness out of the Light in me takes place. How much influence do I have in this? This drop is a palpable, or should I say fleshy, look at it.

As a man, I stand at the point of technological development where I know just enough, but not yet enough so I can seriously mess myself up. I'm in favor of seeing the state of things. The thought that drives technological progress is separate from Source and therefore against Life. There is no device that convinces me to trust it. Not now that I know the Divinity of mankindness and the Law of Life.

Without knowledge of Natural Intelligence, there is no recognition of Artificial Intelligence. Thus, my only way forward is to perceptually become independent and outgrow the credulity of passive repeaters of the findings of others.

I say, without ill-will or despair, that I do not come across a soul who is optimistic about man's development, which says nothing about others, only that the soul has given up on herself. This happens when the gaze rests on the semblance of the Happening. Perfection can only be veiled in appearance to one who looks through an imperfect thought.

Already by invading the plant and animal genes, we cross the threshold of the sacred, inviolable Life Program, when we mechanically invade and tamper with the human gene with devices, without understanding our own Origin, we bring about the highest arrogance, which will blow its disgusting fart straight in our faces and shake our knees.

I do not pretend that the Divinity of mankind will triumph over all. I know the Heart of God, He will one day gather all His sparks again in Himself. But if I want to avoid spinning again in the loop of pain and sorrow (25000 years), I have to recognize the true face of everything and not get caught in the deception.

When learning about themselves and Life, scientists rely on foreign knowledge and things, they do not have a personal experience of Life within themselves. And even the people who rely on their insights are just coming to an experiential understanding of what it means to be a 'Man'.

We have to come to terms with the fact that we already know well, but the view through a separate thought did not allow us to accept it, that there is something that goes beyond the materiality of man, and which until now has not been included in scientific thought.

Science knows that the neuron is a biological antenna, that memories are not stored in the brain, and many other energetic facts that cannot be explained chemically. Neurons catch the information of the all-connecting field of the One Whole (See Zero Point - The Causality of Everything).

Gene does the same, catches information from the Light Field, but also emits it, depending on what kind of energy riles in me.
Ignorance of my Light Interweaving, thereby, for scientists by mysterious Fields, isolates me from It.

Who is causing this isolation, this ignorance? I never tire of admiring God at work. When neurons try to connect..., we recognize them by their behavior as very social and want to connect..., they don't do it immediately, they need time. It takes about 72 hours for a neuron to connect to another neuron. (Link attached)

In order to become something new that goes beyond the current state of the neural network, the neurons need a command to do so. After receiving a new command, they begin to transform in order to meet the new request and hunt for new information from the field. They can catch whatever you want from the Field, there is nothing that the Field does not contain. This command is your vibration that you regularly dwell in. If you have trouble understanding something, stick with it for at least three days and you will understand. The dilemma is, what is it that you want to understand, it is easy to harden yourself into any belief by repeating it.

What a fascination this is! I can describe it as the flexible solidity of soft technology that stopped me in the confidence of a fool who thinks he knows. I wasn't, and I'm even less sure now, that I've already arrived at the ultimate truth in which I want to consolidate the neural network.

Belief is indeed ingrained in the body, but not as the saying, 'habit is an iron shirt' suggests. It can be stubborn indeed, but it is soft and Alive and, with repetitions can be transformed into anything. There is no habit that cannot be broken. They will seem invincible until I know who rules them and how. Now I see how supreme is the inner silence that tells the neurons nothing, so they can naturally take on the original Divine Code, and with it the complete Life Program as is still seen in a non-thinking nature.

I need pristine biology to connect with the Divine Information field. Not long ago, we called a temple or shrine a body, today we call concrete and gilded churches and mosques that way. Energetically speaking, I have only 'five minutes' left to stealthily illuminate this sanctuary, submerge it in Peace to heal it and allow it to reconnect, with and through Peace, into the true community of the Spirit of the resting Light.

The body is constantly in communication with the Field. If I open the door to this ultimate soft, Living technology to the mechanics that only seem to do the activity of the neurons, I tell the neurons 'I don't need you' and they die.

Mechanicalness does not breathe, so it cannot connect to the Field. So alone, from the ignorance of the passive and lukewarm, I command the Divinity within me and in the Field that I do not want It. This ultimate ambition of AI should come as no surprise. Your disconnection from the Light Field and connection to the internet bluetooth network of the AI is a logical development of thought separate from the Source. It's good to know that before I allow myself neural atrophy.

And more, natural regeneration, natural Knowing, intuitiveness, energy perception, imagination, creativity... are also no longer necessary if I do not use the neural ability to connect with the Field even now, when I am still biologically intact. Neurons are renewed until the last breath, but if they are not included in it a natural connection with the Field within about 14 days of their creation, they die. Life needs movement, exchange..., it needs a symbiosis of breathing with the environment..., static energy and drive to self-combustion, is deadly for Life.

If I watch virtual images and listen to virtual sounds for hours, even if it is about nature, Life..., everything is done for me, a passive participant in this process, in which I am not fully included, with a body that feels, perceives and distinguishes the living from the dead, beneficial from harmful. I am engaged only with a mind in which the program that guides my perception is entertained and educated into a sense of smartness because I have static information about Life loaded into my memory, like a phone number sitting dead in a phone's memory unit. Without personal engagement and creativity in conquering Life's novelties, I remember and repeat what I have learned from someone else.

In the reality of Life there is no such 'learning'. In this, the neurons are not involved in the natural exchange with the Field that makes them Alive and in continuous growth, characteristic of Life. In Life, no two things are the same, no two events are the same, no two circumstances are the same.

Source-fullness is the breath of Life. Only when, in relation to what I have in front of my eyes at this moment, I approach it like a blank sheet in the hands of silence, can I really get involved in energetic truth of Happening. When my behavior is not governed by the program from before, only then I am truly in the Happening.

It is with the lukewarmness of being present to Life, as it unfolds to me at this moment, that I tell the obedient neurons that I do not need them. When I fail to engage the Divine in Its natural behavior, It literally sacrifices Itself and dies as a form, out of obedience to me. You must have already heard about the 'double slit' experiment, which showed that Consciousness, or the attention on the observed that causes the leap from non-matter to matter. Particles of matter are constantly appearing and disappearing from the Field, depending on what you focus on.

In the drop Biology is Divine, you learn that Divinity means the ability to transcend the perceptible limitations of the body. If I don't use this ability, it atrophies and I deny myself access to the Field of Knowing.

That we are in the end times is communicated to you by many facts, among others, that the force of deception is furiously attacking your biology as a goal that it wants to seize from the very beginning. Anyone who wants to can check what proposals and already signed agreements are out there to enact the trans-humanist idea for humanity already in the near future (by 2030).

It's good to be aware, but I don't want to burden you with this mare reminiscent of an extremely bad science-fiction movie if you're not Strong enough to answer it from Understanding the Perfection of Life. Whatever separetees predict, they create their own reality and they will have it. It doesn't move me. I know who the Ruler of all Rulers is, I know who is the Ruler of all Rulers, I know Who has the last word and I know the tricks that the darkness wants to trap me in fear for this little existence I am in only so long until I know my Greatness. It's all in vain. I remain in Trust in the Most High, my gaze firmly fixed on the Light that weaves this world and rules it with the inviolable Law of Light.

I surrender to stealth, Stillness in Knowing, and trust in Love. Jesus said that the first who walked His way had a mild fate, compared to those of us living in the last times. Mankind is so magnificent... nothing can stop me from living it if I want to. I don't let anyone dominate me. No one can love me for me. Love is my most natural state and not a commodity, so I don't expect it from another. I want to Live the highest version of myself, as just born into pure Perfection, free from the trauma of an ignorant past... light, free.

I remain true to this Radiant Image, trusting that I am worthy of preservation exactly as I am, without mental, mechanical, chemical and synthetic 'additions'.

There is nothing more beautiful than a person awakened in Love.
There is nothing stronger than Wisdom, which outgrows the naivety of lovers.

* * * * *

TheForestLover